HONGFEI

The name HongFei means “big flying bird” in Chinese. This word comes from a poem by SU Dongpo (XI century) in which life is compared to a big bird flying over the snow and leaving traces without being attached to them. The logo of HongFei Cultures is inspired by a picture on which the Chinese character meaning “bird” is based. It represents a bird and its traces on the snow.

HongFei Cultures is specialised on books for children and develops a unique editorial line that highlights empathy notably through the link with China and cross-cultural aspect. This is why many of the titles by HongFei represent texts by classic or contemporary Chinese and Taiwanese authors illustrated by western artists. These texts - fables, wonderful stories, fairy tales, poetry - reveal ancient but timeless literary tradition, vibrant and rich in humanism.

In the catalogue of HongFei Cultures, readers will also find titles not linked to Chinese culture and exploring various subjects such as travelling, interest to the unknown and relations with the others.

The River

by Mori

An initiatory journey, poetic and gentle

A river. A house in the middle of the river. A dreamy bear sitting on the roof of the house. Shouldn't we leave... Then again, where to? Who with? Thus began a quiet journey. The illustrations prompt the reader to ask questions, without any pressure to give answers. A winding path, an encounter with a friendly wolf, a starry night, a sledge that seems to beckon the reader to toboggan down to... a river, and all the way downstream suddenly pops up a house, at the top of a hill. Indeed, this journey is deceptively just playful: it's an initiation.

MORI (author & illustrator)

After studying management and advertising in Taiwan, Mori spent six months in Europe. His stay, marked by many visits to museums and galleries, led him to attend art school. Ever since then, through the images he creates digitally, Mori attempts to represent life's fleeting moments, the many facets and fragments that constitute its uniqueness as much as they demonstrate its continual evolution. In 2017, his work received a Merit Award for the 3x3 Illustration Show.

The Gift

by Page Tsou

In The Gift we follow the experience of Xiong, a shy boy who receives an entrance ticket to a museum as a Christmas gift from his father. He is not so happy; he would have preferred to stay in his familiar world, with his friend Mr. Cigale. He is not really passionate about the museum pieces of art.

What should he look at at the exposition? What should he think about? Is there only one way to understand a piece of art? In reality, Xiong is much closer to the world of art and creativity than he can ever imagine. Art is often mysterious and difficult to understand. But it can change if we accept to open our heart and set off for an adventure.

THE BOOK-HOMAGE

This book has been created in 2013 for the 30th anniversary of the Fine Arts Museum of Taipei. The author shows the true museum with its architectural particularities. He also mentions some of the signature pieces of art of the museum. On top of these realistic elements, Page Tsou adds some personal details. For example, the portrait of Xiong is directly inspired by the author childhood picture. Likewise, the car brand Yulong Suli 303w that appears in the book, was the first car of the artist's father.

Key words: art, gift, museum, Christmas, experience

245 x 280 mm - 40 pages - 15,90 € - hardback - November 2020

PAGE TSOU is a visual artist from Taiwan who made part of his studies in London and today is in the head of a design studio in Taipei. His creations are characterized by elegance and humor but also have a surrealistic and retro-futuristic touch. He has won several awards, one of which is a prestigious The International award for Illustration by Bologna Book Fair in 2011.

The chess player

by Frédéric Marais

In India, an old man offers a treasure to a young beggar: several pieces of wood. The child is disappointed but as the old man starts to push the wooden figures and recount the battles and expeditions, the boy turns into a hero and adventurer. Initiated at the chess game, the boy reveals himself as a prodigy. So he is sent to travel around the world to compete with the best players... Years later, covered with glory, the champion is back to his home country. One day, he stops in front of a poor young beggar...

The story is freely inspired by the life of Mir Malik Sultan Khan (1905-1966) – an Indian chess master, the strongest chess master of his time.

AUTHOR'S WORD

"When I was a kid, I used to spend summer vacations in a small village in Haute-Loire (France) where I was profoundly bored. One day, I leaned my bicycle against a wall of an old farm that looked abandoned. An old lady saw me from the window and invited – speaking with a strong accent – to come in and have a glass of water. That day, Vera Braun gave me much more than that. She offered me her passion, her treasure. It is this memory that I transpose into the story of the great Indian chess player, completely illiterate and absolutely ingenious".

Words are birds

by Marie Sellier, illustrated by Catherine Louis

Finding within oneself the resources to overcome disappointment and cope with loneliness.

Little Brother was cheerful: Elder Brother was taking him for a walk to the sea and to Shu. At every step, he listened to nature. As for Older Brother, he was impatient. Little brother reckoned he could do some pirouettes while listening to the stories invented by Shu. However, lovebirds are so boring! : all they care about is themselves. So, in order to cope with his disappointment, Little Brother told himself stories inspired by the birds flying above in the sky. He even invented signs that he would trace on the sand. Shu and Older Brother didn't know what they were missing when a mere piece of wood was enough to imagine a new writing.

The Secret of the Clan

by Gilles Baum & Thierry Dedieu

A beautiful story of transmission involving the recipient

Like every summer, an old fisherman welcomed his young granddaughter to his village built on an island. Days go by peacefully! But this time, she noticed that several of Granddad's friends had the same tattoo as her grandfather's on their wrists. A crab! That night, they celebrated the feast of souls. A lantern sailed away on the water in Grandpa's honor. Very slowly, the little girl gently laid a finger on Grandpa's tattoo, staring at it with puzzled eyes. Grandpa smiled without so much as a word. But in the very next night, he woke the little girl up. He wanted to show her something.

Also by Thierry Dedieu:

A marée basse, il sort d'une protte presque sèche
et fait quelques pas de travers sur le sable.
Sa carapace orange-vif culmine
à deux mètres de hauteur.
Ses deux pinces sont colossales.
Son ombre doit bien s'étendre sur 5 mètres de long.
C'est une créature géante, un crabe hors-normes,
un titan de la mer. Malgré son poids,
sa démarche est vive et légère,
quand il avance il semble danser.
Animal extraordinaire.
J'en reste sans voix.

Et puis le filer des âmes, a enfin commencé
Dans la danse des fleurs et des lampions, au milieu des esprits.
Quand arrive le dernier soir nous sommes des dîners
à entrer dans la mer.
Grand-père avance près de moi
tandis que les vagues mouillent le bas de ma chemise :
nous tenons la lanterne de grand-mère à quatre mains.
C'est pour elle. Nous la lissons partir.

The Maple Wood Friend

by Delphine Roux & Pascale Moteki

Sometimes, in their own way and unpredictably, objects weave bonds between humans.

Tomoko, a sensitive and inquisitive little girl, received a gift from her aunt: a Kokeshi doll made of maple wood. She adored it and made it her friend for every moment of her life. But one stormy morning, she lost it. Her aunt, then her master potter at school soothed the child. Later, when Tomoko had become a ceramist, she delivered an order to a pastry shop and was stunned to see in the window... her friend Kokeshi.

The baker explained that his late wife had found it on the street and he had been taking care of it ever since. He had put it there as a memento. Tomoko was touched. She winked at her maple-wood friend and felt her heart glowing with joy.

Chifan! Eat in China.

by Nicolas Jolivot

In China, eating and drinking is an art of living... and a spectacular performance!

For Nicolas the traveler, dining, swallowing, tasting, satiating, means first of all sharing for a moment the space of the person who cooks or sells you a meal, serves it to you, or then again the place where those who, like you, taste it, alone or in a group. For all this, Nicolas, the logbook keeper, has always paid the greatest attention in "Eating". In the street, on a ferry, alone or accompanied... during a series of sketches, he offers us a funny and appetizing tour of China. A truth that modernity undoubtedly transforms a little but does not belie.

VACANCES d'été

Summer vacation

by Mori

It's the end of the school year for the little girl and her black cat. Images capture the moment, like a photograph. Over this book's double page spreads, we follow our two small protagonists through a multitude of summer vacation scenes, various locations, activities and outfit changes. But it's the same thing every time: strike a pose, look straight ahead, stop moving, and then click... The moment is captured forever! Our young protagonists don't exactly seem thrilled—they would certainly rather be splashing around, running or playing—but the person striving to keep these beautiful souvenirs of life feels much tenderness.

After 10 years, he was presented with many books. "But how do I find the time to read all this?" He was supposed to govern too, wasn't he?... Another 10 years and it all was shrunk into only one encyclopaedia. But the little king would never have time to learn all this! He had to enjoy his family too... LE SECOURS

Au cœur de l'île, les jumeaux s'étonnent paisiblement.

Mais un soir, au coucher du soleil, un cri perçant retentit soudain et alerte le Cerf. Celui-ci bondit jusqu'à l'entrée de la lac, le royaume de l'île, habituellement si calme, et agite. Un homme se noie. Et se débat frénétiquement alors que d'innombrables barques se sont massées autour sans oser le prendre au piège.

Au milieu des vagues, le Cerf se laisse frapper le sol de son sabot avec une telle force que les vagues se retirent. Sans cesse partant devant lui une bande de vagues s'écoule.

D'instinct, sous l'entraînement, il s'approche à son objectif végétal et le transporte toujours plus.

LE SONGE

Et voilà voilà vient à l'heure au-dessus des vagues de soleil, de lune, un phare émerge d'une masse de nuages magiques. Il s'approche de la jeune femme avant au bord de la mer et se pose délicatement sur ses joues.

Beauté, il se transforme en un objet avec couleurs délicate. D'une grâce incomparable, la jeune femme se voit seule pour l'instant isolée d'un instant d'elle sans l'effet d'un seul signe.

The potter's wife

by Kuro Jiki (alias Thierry Dedieu)

The wife of a potter, who learned his craft from a great artist, watches him work every day. She is moved and impressed by his gestures. One day, when her husband is off accepting an award, she goes into his studio and feverishly begins working a block of clay. She returns often in secret until one day her husband and an art dealer surprise her with her work. None of the rules of art have been respected. Silently, the dealer takes a look around and then leaves. Soon enough, people start visiting her in the studio and talking about her. She owes everything to her husband, she says. They congratulate the husband and praise the artist. One day, when she receives an award, the potter goes back to his studio and destroys all of his own work. He is the husband of the ceramist now.

One night, a power outage plunges the neighborhood into darkness. Everyone feels helpless... Everyone except for Risha! She lights candles and waves her fingers around in front of the light. The shadow of a small caterpillar appears on the wall, and soon afterwards the silhouette of a butterfly.

If I Were the Minister of the Culture

by Carole Fréchette & Thierry Dedieu

The minister tries hard to convince her colleagues of the importance of the culture. They all agree about that but there is always something more important to spend money for. The minister has then got an idea: she will put in place «days without culture» when there would be no music, no dance, no circus; no one would be allowed to open a book, read a novel or even watch a film on YouTube... Thanks to its powerful text and drawings, this elegant big book (27 x 36 cm) makes everyone see the importance of the culture in our everyday life. It contains a poster so as to spread the message widely.

Island hopping in the Baltic

by Nicolas Jolivot

From Germany to Sweden with a stop in Denmark along the way, from the historic city of Lübeck to Öland, “the island of sun and wind,” Nicolas Jolivot journeys by foot across landscapes with a calm, muffled and steady appearance, but which safeguard all of nature’s most secret nuances, and an incredibly diversity of populations due to centuries of travel across these lands. Over the course of his slow journey, with a notebook, pencil, tent, “ridiculous” bucket hat and Wilson the backpack as his only baggage, the notebooker invites us to discover this little-known European territory.

Japan, on foot by the volcanos

by Nicolas Jolivot

A slow-paced voyage with only a notebook, a pencil, a tent, a «ridiculous» hat and Wilson, the backpack. Nicolas Jolivot went to Japan to discover a new country by crossing the most southern island, Kyushu, on foot. Once there, he was immediately drawn to one of the world's biggest volcanos. His notebook describes the landscapes, the people he met and the daily lives of those who live on the slopes of these both deadly and bountiful mountains.

China, everyday life

by Nicolas Jolivot

"I discovered peaceful districts in crazy cities, buzzing villages in splendid landscapes and the endless tiny activities held by ordinary people who, just as in the rest of the world but expressed differently, smile, grumble, eat, make noise, writhe, have fun, worry, and try to get by to give a chance to their children."

We leaf through this beautiful book as one walks the streets of a city where China's vastness is home to lives led by men. At a time when one seeks to know and understand this fascinating and disturbing world power, the author invites us to dive into the daily lives of its inhabitants. Thus he traces in his sketchbooks, throughout his travels and encounters, a multi-faceted portrait of a diverse China. Uncompromising and without judgment, brilliant with humor and respect, he seized the unexpected, the hubbub and the wonders of a society where tradition is imbedded in the hyper-modernity.

Forty drawings are organized according to different themes : traveling, eating, in the street, a little bit of idleness, and «for life». At the end of the story are an expressive map of the country and a glossary of some words commonly crossed by travelers in China. The book won the Pépité prize 2014 awarded by the salon du livre jeunesse Montreuil and the journal Le Monde, in the non-fiction category.
