THE COSMIC DIARY OF A FUTURE SPACE EXPLORER

Written by real-life astronaut Tim Peake, this book explores the INCREDIBLE world of future space travel.

Astronaut Tim Peake (and expert STEM characters) show what it's really like to blast through space and time, and discover the answers to all the big questions, like: could we build a colony on Mars? Will we ever land on Venus? Can we play football on the Moon?

- Using expert knowledge on the next developments in space travel, this is the follow-up to the bestseller The Cosmic Diary of Our Incredible Universe
- Written by a real astronaut who is returning to space this year, with fascinating insight and STEM content
- Unique diary approach brings to life what it's REALLY like to explore space, and inspires the new era of space travel, exploration and space jobs!

WHERE ARE YOU REALLY FROM?

Take children on an amazing adventure through millions of years of human history.

Meet kings and queens, pharaohs and Vikings, and see just how far and wide humans have migrated around the world, showing that no matter the skin colour you have, language you speak or place you are from – we all share the same small pool of ancestors.

'Laugh-out-loud funny – and you'll learn lots too!' – Adam Kay, author of Kay's Anatomy

'Funny, childish and utterly rigorous. It stands a better chance of making the world a better place than any book I've read recently' – Chris van Tulleken, author of Ultra-Processed People

- An important, fun and accessible resource for understanding evolution, biology and race, written by an expert geneticist
- Co-written with children's author Emma Norry and with two-colour comic panels by Adam Ming
- Takes inspiration from the Sunday Times bestselling A Brief History of Everyone Who Ever Lived and How to Argue with a Racist
