LU FRASER
PADDY DONNELLY

Ava and the ACORN

*All the things that you've lost –
that you've loved – are not gone,
When they're held in your heart,
a small part still lives on . . .*

A tender, stay-with-you-forever story about one little girl's relationship with her grandad,
and the hope that lies in the
changing of the seasons
and the circle of life.
Because where you think
there's an end, there's always a beginning.

- A hopeful and life-affirming exploration of life, love and loss, written by Lu Fraser and illustrated by award-winning Paddy Donnelly
- Helps children to make sense of losing a loved one
- Positive portrayal of intergenerational relationships

Will I Fall?

Helen Mortimer • Carolina Rabei

- A reassuring picture book that celebrates the unconditional love between parent and child
- A poetic text, with themes of mindfulness and resilience, perfect for soothing worries
- Artwork from Kate Greenaway-nominated illustrator, Carolina Rabei.

A warm, joyful and comforting tale of nature, growth, learning and above all, the way love can pick us up when we fall.

The perfect cosy picture book to share at bedtime.

The TEENY-TINY BEAR BEHIND

Little Ivor has a BIG BEAR BEHIND, who always seems to appear at the worst possible moment . . .

Like right when Ivor finds his best friend buddied up with new kid Joe. Soon, their school trip becomes a farmyard frenzy, as the bumbling bear tries to help Ivor outshine Joe.

But how can Ivor possibly compete when Joe makes the funniest goat noises, wins all the farm games, and even has his very own, cooler, smaller, teeny-tiny . . .
BEAR BEHIND?!

Sam Copeland

Pippa Curnick

- A funny story about jealousy and friendship, with farmyard chaos
- The second picture book from Sam Copeland, bestselling middle-grade author of Charlie Changes into a Chicken – translated into 24 languages

OUR COSMOS

Professor Raman Prinja Suzie Mason

Go on a tour of the universe that is simply out of this world, taking in our breathtaking planetary neighbours, the life-giving Sun, the awesome power of black holes, and our nearest galaxies.

See the passion of the people behind the space missions, the incredible inventions that allow us to see further than ever before and, as humanity continues to explore beyond Earth, be a part of the journey that will define us forever.

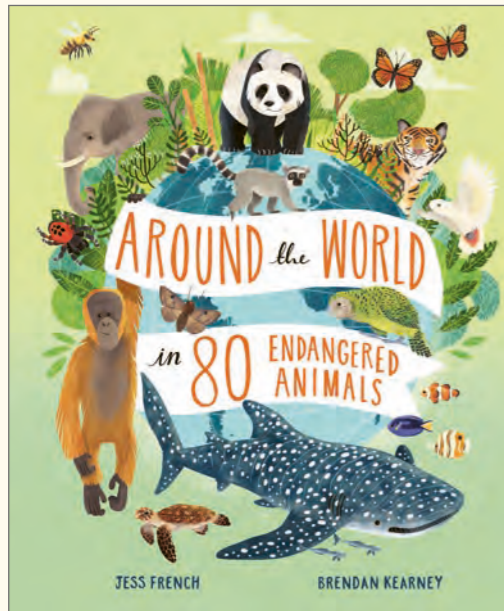

- A detailed and accessible introduction to the cosmos, including constellations, profiles of planets of the solar system, the life of stars, black holes, dark matter, galaxies, moons and human explorations of the stars
- Written by astrophysicist and lecturer Professor Raman Prinja
- Stunning illustrations by Suzie Mason, an astrophysicist before pursuing a career in children's book illustration

AROUND THE WORLD IN 80 BUILDINGS

David Long Lou Baker Smith

AROUND THE WORLD IN 80 ENDANGERED ANIMALS

Jess French Brendan Kearney

In these additions to the Around the World series, readers are invited to explore both the stories behind the most important human-built structures, and the importance of every single endangered creature on Earth - how they need our help, why we should act now, and what might happen if we don't.

- Both books feature a stunning central gatefold
- Features an international collection of 80 of the world's most iconic buildings spanning every time period, from the mysteries of Stonehenge, to the awe-inspiring Christ the Redeemer and Burj Khalifa
- The plight of 80 of the world's most endangered creatures is meticulously researched by renowned natural history expert Jess French
- Part of the Around the World series

An Invitation to the Botanic Gardens

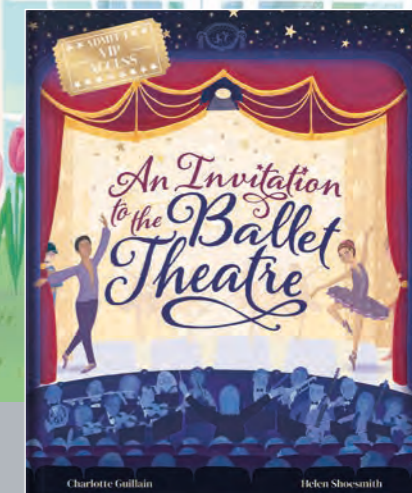

Charlotte Guillain Helen Shoesmith

Have you ever wondered what goes on at a botanic garden?

It's not all planting and pruning. In fact, the team have a planet-saving mission on their hands. Leave no leaf unturned in the glasshouses where you can marvel at insect-eating plants, zombie fungus, plants pretending to be pebbles, and waterlilies as big as paddling pools!

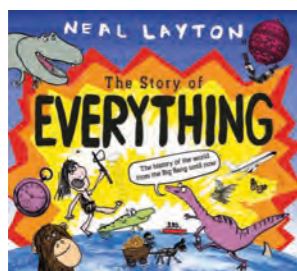

- Meet the scientists who are researching plants that can cure diseases and uncover the secret lives of seeds
- Produced in association with Royal Botanic Gardens Kew
- Gatefolds open to reveal beautiful scenes like the Herbarium and the arboretum

NEW LAURENCE KING CHILDREN'S

Tell Us Apart

Lucy Thorn

Lucy Rose

Can you tell your wasps from your hornets or your frogs from your toads? Did you know that hares live in nests above ground while rabbits live underground in burrows? Get to know the animals that even grown-ups struggle to tell apart with this handy guide to often-confused pairs in the animal kingdom, for naturalists young and old.

- Packed with scientific facts about various animals, ranging from social and behavioural differences to anatomy
- A fresh twist on the favourite non-fiction topic of animals

ROMA AGRAWAL

JISU CHOI

From spaceships and skyscrapers to toasters and shoes, technology and engineering is all around us. But there wouldn't be any inventions without these seven small things: the NAIL, the WHEEL, the SPRING, the MAGNET, the LENS, the PUMP and ... STRING. Each of these things have a story to tell.

- Fact-packed, accessible and fascinating introduction to science and engineering, encouraging children to be curious about the things that make up our world
- Features stories and history from around the world

SEVEN SMALL INVENTIONS THAT CHANGED THE WORLD

DINOPEEDIA

From the ferocious sea monster Ichthyosaurus, to the lumbering plated plant-eater Stegosaurus, Dinopedia is an encyclopedia of prehistoric beasts with a difference. Illustrated by boutique illustration collective Good Wives and Warriors, this is a lavish and playful guide to dinosaurs providing all the must-know facts, plus exploring the answers to the big questions we all want to know. And what has the latest cutting-edge research revealed?

- The next in a stunning series of encyclopedias, this is the perfect companion title to Mythopedia, which has sold in 8 languages
- Text written by Tom Jackson, and verified by consultant Chris Tijani Barker, a PhD student with a particular focus on theropods and Palaeobiology
