A Bindi Can Be ...

Written by Suma Subramaniam; Illustrated by Kamala Nair

A young girl makes a bindi with her grandmother and discovers what wearing one means to her.

A young girl is eager to learn all about bindis, the red dot that goes between her brows. Paati, her grandmother, shows her how to make a bindi by combining traditional ingredients in a clay pot. They mix and mix and mix until, like magic, the mixture turns from yellow to bright red. The girl wears her bindi when she celebrates festivals, such as Diwali. But she also wears it on an ordinary day, since it keeps her centered and calm, and lets her see the world as one. In this way, she discovers that her bindi is more than just a dot.

Here Are the Seeds

Written by JaNay Brown-Wood; Illustrated by Olivia Amoah

Two children learn the ins and outs of growing a garden from seeds. Through rhythmic storytelling, award-winning author and poet JaNay Brown-Wood follows two children as they grow a garden from seeds. Told as a cumulative tale, similar to “The House That Jack Built,” the story starts promisingly: “Here are the seeds that we will sow to help our garden grow.” But as time passes, the children learn that things rarely go as planned in the garden. Do they — and Mother Nature — have what it takes to turn things around?

This perfectly delightful story is sure to plant a smile on readers’ faces!

A poetic ode to the freedom of a summer day spent doing nothing but imagining.

On a hot summer day that's lasted forever, two brothers stretch out in an abandoned car in a strip-mall parking lot. They pass the time thinking up another place and scattering ketchup-soaked fries to attract the garbage gulls. Just the right amount, the older boy says, so enough will come. Enough to lift them in their tangle of wings and take them to the beach.

Children will be transported through the clouds to the delights that lie beyond in this richly imagined gem of a picture book.

An interactive picture book adventure starring the adorable alien Floof!

Floof — from the planet Ploof — has just landed on Earth! Luckily, alien expert Dr. Greta Goodnote can guide readers on how to interact with him. To make him feel welcome, you raise your arms and jiggle them; to protect him from the rain, you take a deep breath and blow the clouds away. Most important, readers have to stop him from poofing up when he gets wet! There's a lot to do and a whole lot of silliness to enjoy.

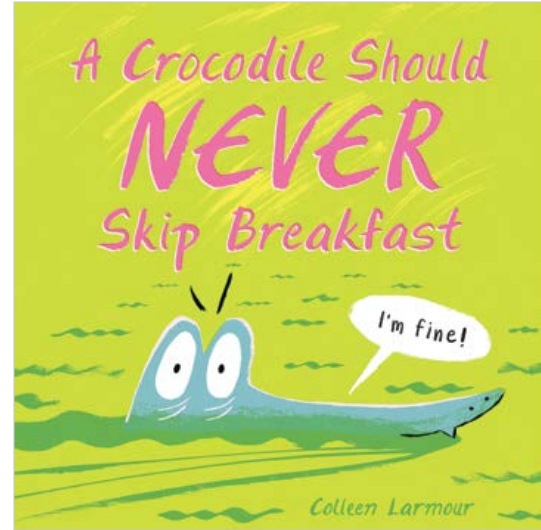

Kids will love the way-out-there fun as they get to know the most lovable alien ever!

A Crocodile Should Never Skip Breakfast

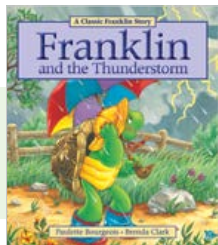

Written & illustrated by Colleen Larmour

A hungry crocodile. A load of animals on his back. What could go wrong? Croc is running late for his shift as the river ferry. No time for breakfast. He'll pick up donuts at the Hippo Hut. Only, Hippo's sold out! Good thing Croc has an emergency snack. Except, his banana's gone bad! Croc is going to have to work on an empty stomach, with loads of animals on his back. Croc gets hungrier and hungrier, thinking of donuts and ... other things to eat. Will he make it to lunch?

Kids will gobble up this funny, cautionary tale!

An out-of-this-world poetic exploration of the wonders of our solar system.

From a ballad of Earth and an ode to the sun to a villanelle for Venus and a sestina for Saturn, here are 14 original poems about planets and other bodies in our solar system. Each different poetic form reflects the object's unique characteristics, and each poem is bursting with intriguing details sure to capture readers' imaginations. Information about both the object and the poetic form accompanies each poem.

This innovative, immersive and beautifully crafted book blends science and poetry to create something strikingly new. Readers will be enchanted.

Queer History A to Z 100 Years of LGBTQ+ Activism

An essential resource for young readers that details the people, events and places that have shaped queer history in North America.

In this accessible resource, middle-grade readers can learn about the history of LGBTQ+ activism in North America. Presented in an A to Z format, the entries cover a broad range of topics related to the fight for equality, such as "A Is for Activism," "P Is for Pride" and "S Is for Stonewall Inn." The book provides a rich hundred-year-long history and covers current topics relevant for kids today, such as banned books and human rights for transgender people. Young activists will find themselves reflected in the stories of trans activist Gavin Grimm, the history of gay-straight alliances and much more. This inspiring and much-needed book provides an accessible introduction to an important topic.

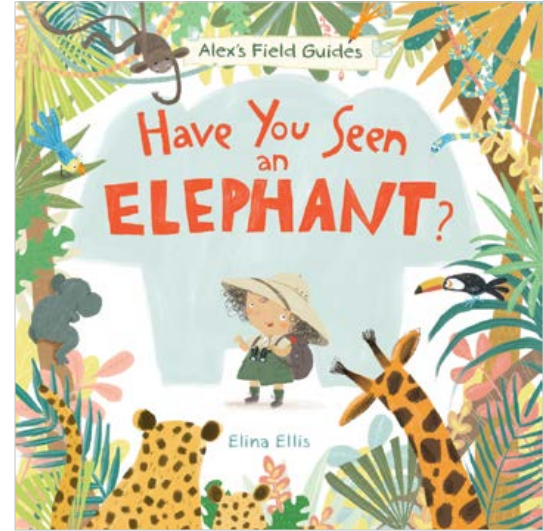

Have You Seen an Elephant?

Written & illustrated by Elina Ellis

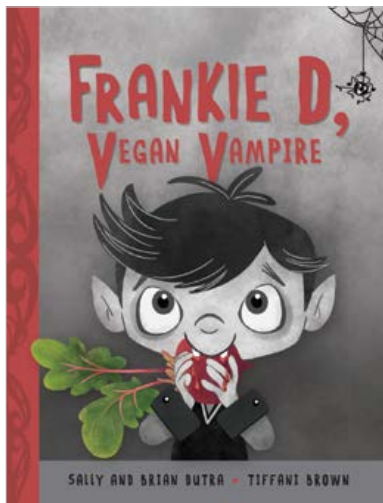

A charming story that's also a clever allegory for the disappearance of elephants in the wild.

Meet Alex. She's an explorer who LOVES elephants, and she's going on an expedition to find some. How hard could it be? It turns out, pretty hard! Alex asks one animal after another, but none of them has seen an elephant. Not the giraffe. Not the snake. Not even the lion! Where are all the elephants?

Readers will chuckle as they spot the elephants hiding in plain sight — an encouraging first step for budding explorers!

Frankie D, Vegan Vampire

Written by Sally and Brian Dutra; Illustrated by Tiffani Brown

A new early chapter book series starring a lovable vampire who's just trying to fit in.

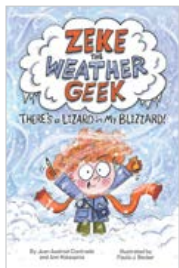

Frankie D and his family have just moved from Transylvania, looking for a fresh start. Where Frankie is from, the school day began at midnight and ended at dawn. Now Frankie and his family must adjust their sleep schedule, train to be out in the sun, and strictly adhere to a zero-blood diet.

Not only that, Frankie is the new kid at school and has to keep his vampire identity secret from other humans. A tall order for a deathly pale, fanged fourth-grader with a three-legged wolf as a pet!

Will Frankie "beet" the odds and make friends in his new, plant-based life?

Willa and Wade and the Way-Up-There

Written by Judith Henderson;
Illustrated by Sara Sarhangpour

Two best friends follow their flights of fancy in this first book in a graphic novel series for early readers.

Best friends Willa and Wade really want to fly. Sure, Willa's an ostrich and Wade's a penguin. But there must be some way that can get off the ground! The two thorough thinkers try different ways — from pirouettes to pogo sticks — to catch some air. But while they do a lot of trying, it doesn't lead to any flying! Will the friends ever reach their lofty goal?

Kids will be charmed. Who doesn't want to fly? Especially with your best friend beside you!

The Unlucky Kid

Written & illustrated by Bob Holt

A laugh-out-loud graphic novel story collection about a kid down on his luck.

Poor Quin. No matter what he does or where he goes, something always goes horribly — and hilariously — wrong! Chased by a swarm of seagulls shouting "Fries!?" Trying to pull a tooth and ending up in the clouds? Dragged through a hornet's nest on a quiet day of fishing? It's all just another day in the life of Quin. But not to worry. After all, tomorrow just might be his lucky day!

Readers will feel lucky they discovered this book!

The latest addition to The Most Magnificent series.

In this vocabulary book, the characters from The Most Magnificent Thing walk readers from A to Z, through all the words little makers need to know. It captures the ups (“I is for IDEA. A gift from the imagination that wants to be made.”) and downs (“P is for PATIENCE. Most things don't work the first time ... or the third time ... or even the twelfth time.”) of creating and includes explanations of key concepts (“B is for BRAINSTORM. When ideas of all shapes and sizes rain onto the page.”)

Witty, clever and encouraging, it's sure to inspire endless magnificent making!

Burt the Beetle Lives Here!

Burt the Beetle wants to find the perfect home to settle down in. But what might that look like? Burt's impressed as he checks out the homes of his insect friends — a monarch's chrysalis, the ants' underground tunnels, the bees' hive. They're amazing, they just don't quite suit Burt's size, his building skills — or his sticky legs! He's starting to get discouraged. But when a rainstorm sends him scurrying for cover under a leaf, Burt begins to understand what home feels like for him!

Chester

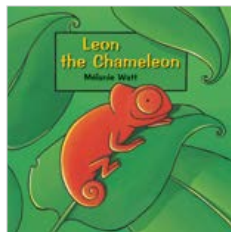

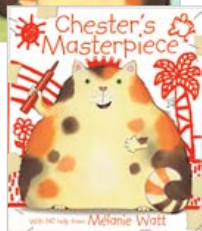

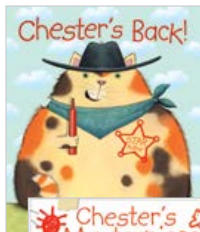

The talent behind the Scaredy Squirrel sensation returns with a larger-than-life character so big that the covers of a picture book can't contain him. The Chester series pits an egomaniacal cat named Chester against the author-illustrator — the acclaimed Melanie Watt — who created him. Unlike any other book character, Chester is never satisfied with his creator's work, so he tries to do it himself — with hilarious results. This battle of the picture-book makers provides an insider's look at the creative process.

What If I'm Not a Cat?

A sweet, funny story about identity - and knowing where we belong. Why, of course Donkey's a cat. He licks his fur, pounces and perches in high places, just like the other cats on the farm. Though, sometimes, he does feel ... a little off. So, when Farmer says to him, "Donkey, you're acting like a cat!" it gets him thinking. What if he's not a cat? And if not, then what is he? Will going off on his own help Donkey figure out what he is and where he belongs? Cat or not, any litter would be thrilled to have this lovable Donkey in their barnyard!

This is a Dog Book!

This is a dog book, and bunny wants to be in it! To get into this dog book, a bunny tries to prove to some skeptical dogs that he's one of them. Does he like to run and catch a ball? Of course. Can he use his puppy-dog eyes to get out of trouble? Absolutely. Does he smell dog doo-doo? Umm . . . The bunny does his best to demonstrate his dog credentials. But, of course, a bunny is a bunny, not a dog. Only, does it have to matter? This bunny is a real snuggle puppy!

Dark Cloud

Abigail's dark cloud follows her everywhere. It can be a ball of worries, a swirl of fog or a long shadow. But it's always with her, making other children distant, getting in the way at ballet class and even taking away her appetite. Then Abigail begins to understand some things about her dark cloud. Like how it's not always the same size. How she can trap it in a sandcastle. And how, sometimes, she can even step away from it and feel the sunshine on her skin. Children will be comforted by this realistic yet hopeful story about depression as a clinical condition.

Kaboom! A Volcano Erupts

The story of a volcano's eruption, as it's never been told before!

Here's a step-by-step story of a volcanic eruption — from the volcano's point of view! Readers meet the volcano as it placidly slumbers. But then, hot magma moves into a chamber beneath it. Steam and gas spew out. The magma and gases rise up, ready to escape. Finally, the volcano shouts, "I'm awake!" as lava, hot rocks, and billows of ash erupt out of its vents with a roar.

Operation Cupcake

Ginger and Mac are pros at snatching up delicious tidbits and bringing them back to their mousehole to eat. Today, though, their mission is complicated. Their target is a vanilla cupcake with buttercream frosting. Only, it's (a) too big for them to carry, (b) within leaping distance of the resident cat and dog and (c) under a heavy glass cake dome. Luckily, these mice love a challenge. Ginger is sure they can use simple machines to get the job done. But is she right?

Think Like a Goat

Think humans are the only intelligent creatures? Scientists are discovering that we can learn a lot from some super-smart animals. For example: some birds can store seeds in thousands of different places — and remember them all! Ants can work together on tasks by following instinctive algorithms. This fascinating book, covering four intelligence categories, celebrates all kinds of critters — each with their own kind of smarts! Kids will love this mindexpanding view of creatures great and small!

Polar

Despite the bitter cold, ferocious winds and six months of darkness, the polar regions are home to many animals. These creatures can survive because of their unique adaptations. Readers learn about the arctic fox's furry toe pads that protect her when walking on ice, emperor penguins that huddle in groups around their chicks to keep everyone warm, and narwhals that use echolocation to find a crack in the surface ice to breathe.

This Is Your Brain on Stereotypes

From the time we're babies, our brains sort and label the world around us — a necessary skill for survival. But there's a downside: we also do it to groups of people in ways that can be harmful. With loads of examples, here's a scientific overview of stereotyping, covering the history of identifying stereotypes, secret biases in our brains, how stereotypes affect our sense of self, and current research into the ways that science can help us overcome them.
