Diyas

Diyas are the lamps that people light on Diwali. They are very important because they remind some people of the story of Rama and Sita.

Diwali is a time to celebrate good triumphing over evil.

Diyas

4

Hindus honour Lakshmi during Diwali. The lights and lamps help Lakshmi to find her way to people's homes and bring them good fortune in the new year.

Sparklers and fireworks are another fun way to celebrate Diwali.

SEAHORSE

Unlike many animals, it is the male seahorse that carries the eggs.

SEAHORSE
 Type: Vertebrate (fish)
 Found: Warm and temperate waters
 Diet: Small crustaceans

They're always eating because they have no teeth and no stomach so food passes through them quickly.

A male seahorse can give birth to over 1,000 babies at a time. Not many babies survive and sometimes a male seahorse might eat its own babies.
